~~DIY LANGUAGE~~

DIY LANGUAGE LEARNING

So, you've asked yourself the question, "Is it possible for me to learn a language on my own?" ^{The} short answer: from my experience, yes, definitely! You're going to need to set a goal and do some work, but it is nothing too hard. If you want the long answer, buckle up for a linguistic adventure and keep reading!

THE BASICS

Every language, be it Spanish, English or Russian, has its own rules. To start your language learning journey, you're going to need to learn those rules. If you don't know where to find them, consider buying access to an online learning platform. This way, you'll be able to get structured knowledge of the language's rules. This really helped me when I was learning my second language.

A SMALL STEP FOR YOU, A GIANT LEAP FOR YOUR MIND

After you've learnt the rules, I recommend watching television in that language. That isn't the only way ^{to learn new expressions}, but it is surely the most fun! You should start off by watching your favourite TV show with subtitles, writing down every expression you find interesting. Turn off the subtitles when you're confident enough about your abilities.

EXCHANGING EXPERIENCES

Another great option is language exchange programmes. You'll be able to not only learn the language, but also to make new friends and acquaint yourself with another country's culture.

WHAT NOW?

That's about it for now! I really hope you liked these suggestions. ~~Bea~~ Bear in mind that these tactics could be used with other ones! mix and match however you want! If you have ~~your own~~ experiences, ~~or if you think the ones I've provided could be somehow improved~~, feel free to share in the comments! ~~I'd love~~ To see your feedback.
