3apиpue №2

The article "Realism" taken from Wikipedia describes the movement of Realism, its history, main aims and ideas.

This movement appeared in France in 19th century. It replaced the ideas of Romanticism the prime aim of which was to idealise life through art. On the contrary, Realists painted things as they were and based their artworks on objective reality. ~~Some~~ ~~Realists~~ ~~also~~

Since the trend appeared at the time of Industrial Revolution one of its aims was to reflect the new values in the society which fueled controversy between the upper and working classes. Realism continued to dominate in Europe for the whole 19th century.

The leader of the Realism movement was Gustave Courbet, whereas in Russia the most famous Realism representatives were Shishkin, Savrasov and Repin also known as the Peredvizhniki.

In my opinion, the appearance of this new trend in art was important for modern people because it almost truthfully depicted the real world and life of people of that period.

I woke up in the morning and found myself in an unfamiliar place with only sand all around. The last thing I remembered was the noise I heard when I was trying to ~~steer~~ <sup>steer</sup> the boat closer to the shore. I started to recall the events of the previous day.

I came to New Port ~~early~~ <sup>yesterday</sup> ~~in the morning~~ to stay at my uncle's house. My cousin Jane <sup>①</sup> almost immediately invited me to take a trip on her new sailboat that her father - my uncle - had given her for her birthday. Honestly, I'm not a fan of sea travel at all as I get ~~seasick~~ seasick quickly, but Jane persuaded me to go. "Look, Anna, the weather is wonderful, the wind is ~~steady~~ steady, ~~we~~ we are going to have a lot of fun!" - she said. "Okay, you have convinced me," - I agreed. Who could have predicted that a strong wind with heavy rain would ~~start~~ start and our little boat would turn over? ~~I began~~

I ~~looked~~ ~~around~~ looked around. The long beach ended in a cape where pine trees and some bushes grew. I saw an object that looked like our boat. I rushed there and I found Jane sitting on the sand hugging her knees. "Oh, ~~Anna~~ Anna, you are alive!" - she exclaimed. ~~she~~ ~~said~~ "Jane! I was so afraid you were dead!" - I sobbed. ~~We~~ We couldn't turn over the boat, so we had to walk home. When we finally reached home we were exhausted. Moreover, my aunt and uncle scolded us severely. The next morning my uncle returned the boat. After all, this adventure made me realise how much I love and appreciate my family.
